

Small Business Accounting Subject of Feb. 6 Lunch & Learn

How the new tax law will affect small businesses will be covered when Susan McKay, owner of Susan McKay, CPA, speaks at the Feb. 6 Lunch & Learn sponsored by the Energy Capital Enterprise Center.

Local entrepreneurs as well as those thinking about starting a small business are invited to attend the event from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Enterprise Center, 345 Sinclair St. in Gillette. Cost is $10, which includes a light lunch.

McKay will outline key steps and provide practical advice on navigating the often confusing world of small business accounting. That will include reviewing tax law changes and talking about the type of recordkeeping that needs to be done throughout the year to maximize deductions.

While the Lunch & Learns are primarily an opportunity for entrepreneurs to learn critical business skills and about resources available to them, they also allow established local businesses to share their expertise and develop relationships with the entrepreneurs. They also help entrepreneurs to connect with each other so they can share ideas, expertise, insights and partnerships.

Those interested in attending should RSVP by Feb. 2 to mary@EnergyCapitalED.com or by calling 686-2603. Participants may submit questions with their RSVPs, and McKay will answer those questions during her presentation.
